

Language suggested for sidewalks:

Jurisdictions which already have adopted regulations concerning sidewalk maintenance and repair need to be sure that the public is aware of the rules, and then need to implement programs that are in conformance with those regulations.

Jurisdictions which do not have such regulations are strongly urged to develop and follow them as well. Such regulations should include the development of an inspected inventory of candidate locations in need of repair, and adoption of a funded program that addresses the deficiencies.